In several American cities, people have been putting up with the incessant noise of fireworks from sundown until sunup. It's caused enough of a stir that publications have jumped to try and explain this phenomenon as "kids bored because of corona." Most of these articles are careful not to correlate it with the BLM riots or the defunding of police around the country, but if you look at the comments in articles that allow them, people are blaming the defunding of police directly.

I've seen comments under some of these articles, as well as on twitter, that people have witnessed these fireworks being brought into cities in bulk and handed out to kids.

If you google "why am I hearing fireworks every night" you'll see how widespread this is. Is this the next phase in a greater plan to destabilize and cause general woe around the country?

In the city, I've seen the remnants of what they've fired off the previous night. Definitely commercial fireworks. The pre-packed cakes you light once. It's obvious people are lighting them in the street and then leaving without even watching it. They're just running around and shooting them in random places.

Maaf, if you have victims, why don't you send them to 911 or 7 on their Side? Maybe they can help us. A friend told me it's happening on the east side too. As someone on this thread noted, fireworks are expensive so that's a lot of money being blasted every night.

Okay, so after looking through a bunch of stuff and being a soundfag, had to check up on some things.

Turns out, the LRAD stuff is being used and abused. The large bangs were being set off for funsies in certain areas, which doesn't always include fireworks. A majority of these sounds were tests/ accidents that were completely uncalled for, spanning the entire continent ALONGSIDE the fucking fireworks. It's not just a PSY OPs, it's also an irritant; something to get people to call the cops instead of looking into it themselves.

Starting looking into stuff like Aztec Death Whistles, Operation Wandering Souls, unexplained sounds, LRADs, etc. and found out that this is just them getting people to not riot by using these.

Honestly it would be easier to go out and spread the virus than it would be to get involved in riots/ etc. obligatory fuck that shit

Oh yeah, I completely forgot to mention that it's started getting quieter where I moved to, and there are almost no sirens period. No activity, no care in the world. Shit's gettin spooky.

It's nearly a year later, and we still never got an ""official"" answer for what the hell was going on. It seems everyone forgot about it. Honestly, so did I until I saw this thread just now.

You like Dead by Daylight? Their early work was belittle noob saves as a waist. But when Portrait of a Murder came out November 2021, I think they really gamed into their zone, eternally and realistically. Scourge Hook: Pain Resonance causes clear, crisp screams of survivors causing them to be downed, and delightful fleeing compensates dealing with intersectional feminism that really causes Dead by Daylight to seduce. Victims aren't always scared let me dispel this fellows, but I think the survivors have far more Twitter morals like a tumor. In October 2017, Devs released this: Nightmare!, the most demolished victims. I think their best polluted killer is "Nemesis". A murderer so catchy, most survivors probably don't position away when he rips. But they should, because it's not just about pressuring minorities and the performance of friends. It's also reversing for blatant finesse see for yourself. No gun, no mall! Put on a mask and save Anglos like you have foresight, you fuckin stupid bastards!

Why is it that so many people willingly sign off their lives to the Elite? Do they realize they are going to be thrown to the wolves eventually and not care, or are they just that stupid?

I once saw a report that stated only one-third of people even have internal monologues. Are people brainwashed, or are some just more genetically 'normie' than others?

Honestly I just want to know how we can live by working around them, I've completely lost hope on trying to help them. Thoughts?

>Why blacks join masonic lodges even though they are locked on being second class members.

This is very much a USA thing with Freemasonry, though it may happen elsewhere too.

The Blacks in the US have Prince Hall Freemasonry. Prince Hall formed a lodge for slave soldiers during the civil war after allegedly walking into a British camp and asking to become a member, where he was initiated on the promise of no longer fighting in the war.

If the origin story proved true, I'd imagine it was purely a D&C move by the British officers at the time.

Prince Hall lodges hold a charter from UGLE.

is it true that the boston tea party incident was whites throwing away the charter to make pha equal to afam? that was on that boat?

This is only a brief guide about what I gathered. To deeper knowledge of why I am saying this all, you'll've to research on your own. This practices are designed to outcast most deficiencies known by wizkids away (muh brainfog, restlessness, etc), exceptuating only those given by genome:

- >leave all diaries, immediately
- >leave grains: no wheat, corn or rice at all
- >eat your foods within a reduced schedule, rather than through all the day long
- >avoid starchy foods and red meats
- >if not vegetarian, eat meats briefly: like once a week or two weeks
- >the softest and wealthiest meats are white fish
- >do you like nuts? They are still acidifiers...
- >learn your ayurveda body type (dosha) and how to regulate it

If you want quick results, these are the shock therapies:

- >fasting regularly (the body must slowly develop its ability to detox or adversities a.k.a "detox crisis" are to be faced. The same on mucusless diet.)
- >colon enema
- >HIIT exercise
- >do not use domestic cooling/heating unless your body strictly requires so, due to some sickness or whatever else
- >drink hot water, as much as it can be without harming your mouth
