This thread is intended to give a centralized point of discussion to the many theories surrounding the historical basis of the works of J.R.R. Tolkien. All viewpoints welcome, but please back claims with support as best as possible.

I will provide a reading list if requested, but until then I don't want to provide filler links.

>schizo

Fuck off, and don't be a sheep. This has come up again and again, and all we need is a place to discuss it without gaps of Chans or threads.

With that being said, get comfy and get posting.

Tolkien built his world from what he knew (we can only do that), so noticing real world parallels is just natural. He copypasted patterns he thought would fit. How he applied them was largely influenced by his own bias, even unknowingly. He also cast moral judgement, expressing hate against those characters who dared to make up their own mind, who weren't servile.

In this world,

Is the destiny of mankind controlled by some transcendental entity or law?

Is it like the hand of god hovering above?

At least it is true that man has no control

Even over his own will.

☐ Anonymous 07/18/2021 (Sun) 12:55:40 [\[Preview\]](#) No.4555 [\[X\]](#) del

>>4554

Or at least that's the official translation but now I think about it, it's steering the interpretation away from what was intended. It's not that man has no control over it but that man cannot be free with it. More accurate translation of last two lines would be this:

Even when it comes to one's own will

Man cannot do as he pleases/Man is not at liberty

>>4553

I'm not familiar with the context as far as Tolkien's work but what you've written shows a larger misunderstanding. When you put it like that it's counter intuitive but if you reframe it and consider that being led by your ambitions or passions is not freedom then maybe the idea of servility for the right cause won't offend you anymore.

Ah! Heavens! If only we just took the matters in our own hands, moved our fat lazy asses and did SOMETHING! If only someone rose up to lead us against Stock Boogeyman#1 or #2!

Because it's not like almost or every revolution was orchestrated from the start and that a charismatic, reliable character a crowd mentality resigns it's judgement and thinking faculties to who miraculously appears when he's needed the most has been supplanted beforehand to cause the people to wreak havoc against pawns of no bearing on the end game.

It's not just human beings we're against, those are just tools and as difficult as it's to accept - victims themselves, hopelessly duped. There is a supernatural component to this conspiracy and intelligence beyond our feeble minds that moves it forward century by century from the dawn of civilization.

Maybe there's some hope in 100th monkey phenomenon or that God will come to save the day but from what I read He's only planning to drop by when everything goes irreversibly to hell and then we get a wholesale judgement in fucking fire that'll melt every bloody thing. Because it's better to let things go unchecked and be all wrathful and angry, when super intelligent immortals He wouldn't bother to keep on a leash surprise surprise overpowered mankind, than to put some effort into micromanaging your creation.

Alright, Anon, I watched the video and thought about your post for awhile. While I agree with your take that there is little to be done (or little reason to try at all), I cannot understand your apparent negativity towards God and the virtues of His Creation. I really don't want to type an essay here, but simply understand that Satan is the representation of all things conducive to non-existence, whereas God is the inverse. By virtue of God existing, Satan had to be refuted, and he will be. God, Humanity, and Creation are all not flawed as you seem to believe, but evil must be refuted, as it is forced into being by the existence of good.

As for the video, the lad in it had my full support up and until the end. Just because the opposition as it exists is controlled, does not mean the actual concept of opposition itself is inherently flawed or manipulative.

Otherwise, good info, and maybe look into the ways the Masons and their predecessors have been dealt with (temporarily) in the past.

Evil is not forced into existence by the existence of good. Satan was created good and went bonkers (check out the meanings of Heylel, Strong's 1966, one of those is 'insane') that seems to be the real reason for evil. A sickness that overcame the second most intelligent being, and from what I can gather every evil allowed is allowed in an effort to cure that sickness because 'God wishes none to perish' but it's too much. I can agree with the 'evil needs to be refuted' bit, I can see the need for that but fucking hell. How many kiddos need to be violently raped, terrified into soul fracturing trauma and harvested for rut and high inducing chemicals in their blood? With my petty earthly mind I can imagine locking someone up in a simulation where as many lessons can be administered without the need for creation to suffer for that. As it stands whatever 'virtues of His Creation' pale before the horrors of satanic ritual abuse and that's only things we know, allowed out probably to traumatize us indirectly.

That's a heavy hitter but there are more mundane stuff like everyday injustice, genetic lottery, men and women desiring and expecting different things (that one would be a pretty easy thing to fix), unrequited love and the fact that lust isn't dependent on love (another fucking easy fix, so much evil gone with just that), subjection to the elements and material needs which will be the thing pushing people to whatever satanic system that ultimately we end up with because everyone needs to eat (God doesn't give a shit about fulfilling material needs - not talking about wants here, needs, I guess children in Africa aren't worth more than a multitude of sparrows lol; oh and btw we were supposed to be able to rule over elements, turn water into wine and pirate food - John 14:12 but I guess screw that, no freedom from the curse for you, you're saved but only on paper lol now suffer so you show me you love me because a loving husband and father tortures his wife and children constantly to see their devotion, oh but I didn't lie or give you false hope, no no, you'll get that when you'll have an immortal body so you won't need that shit anyway).

>As for the video, the lad in it had my full support up and until the end. Just because the opposition as it exists is controlled, does not mean the actual concept of opposition itself is inherently flawed or manipulative.

I've skimmed it and couldn't find the bit you're referring to. Not saying he wasn't saying that, I know one other conspiracy theorist on youtube also had that idea presented and I don't know how to feel about it myself but there's a "resist not evil". Regardless that's something I haven't made up my mind about it yet.

>and maybe look into the ways the Masons and their predecessors have been dealt with \(temporarily\) in the past.

As you yourself have noticed that didn't really change anything. If Mystery Religion were to be defeated the cause for it's success needs to be taken out. One is humanity's hate of people that they feel that don't fit. Many intuitives get inside cults because of alienation and that only deepens when they're initiated into a order that keeps telling them they're superior and above the blind masses (and it'd be very hard to think otherwise after trying to interact with normal people, maybe try to warn them and get laughed at or ignored). Love thy neighbour as thyself is the solution. Not gonna happen because of material worries and all the stuff related to that like status. We're fucked.

>What is seperationism?

Seperationism is the principle by which one seperates himself from undesirable circumstances, usually those related to daily life. In this case, we are seeking to help each other overcome Masonic garbage.

>B-but OP, I can't stop living!

No shit. You can chsnge how you are living though. Every time you become more self-sufficent, the less the world has power over you.

>An Example?

The easiest would be learning how to homestead. Start a garden that can supplement at least 7 percent of your yearly groceries, or even just start collecting rainwater or compost.

Another prime example is to start saving videos or communications on private systems like your PC or alternative services to limit the ability of Big Tech to manipulate others.

>Won't I look weird?

Yes, most will see you as a hermit that avoids attachments, but if you want to be attached to the average normie, you are on the wrong board. Get closer to family, and choose a few friends to maintain close tues with, and for God's sake, cut the damn social media cord.

Let's help each other out and get posting.

You know you can start small, right?

If you have land or a large apartment, start a garden/window garden.

If you can't do that, stockpile useful goods or bullion.

You don't have to have everything, but at least have something to contribute when those who have prepared offer to help you.

I agree with your sentiments, so please take my advice:

"Normie" has been co-opted by reddit. P O S T I N G L I K E T H I S when not doing A E S T H E T I C S was always a normalfag meme. "Kike" is some of the most overused anti-mason slang; use "heeb" or something different, not to mention, actually use it when it's relevant, which it is not in this case.

*Actually, even "normalfag" is becoming used in certain places. Thus, "norman" or even simply "pleb" might be better.

I'm a Christian but I'm really really lonely and I want to summon a succubus to be my lover, but I'm really afraid of going to hell. I don't anything evil that hurts anybody and I certainly don't want to blaspheme or renounce God. I just want somebody to make love to and cuddle with afterwards as I drift off to sleep with her. I thought about watching succubus hypno videos but I'm scared that I'll accidentally pledge my soul to Satan while I'm under a trance. Does anyone have any advice? Since succubi are fallen angels does that mean they can still be redeemed in God's eyes? Also, in the hypothetical case that I do summon a succubus and I allow her to punish me by kinkily whipping and spanking me, does that qualify as punishment for my sins if I enjoy it?

seeing eye and this brings the possibility of professional satanism. Even monetizing it through clothing and masonry fronts to maybe sell blood and heads. And then using masonic imagery as i am guessing gang like affiliation to protect the satanism. this is part of what i believe is a silent war going on inside of masonry. Not all are even aware of the mess.

☐ How does one reset their reality Anonymous 02/15/2021 (Mon) 02:47:27 [\[Preview\]](#) No. 4275 [\[Reply\]](#) [\[X\]](#) [\[Last 50 Posts\]](#) >>4379

I have been thinking about this for years and want to try it. I want to set back my reality to a certain date and time all while keeping my knowledge I have gained. Of what I have seen this possible with the multiple universes theory. What I am mainly looking for is to take my consciousness out of this neurology and place it with into an alt-universe serve. An alt universe self with in a reality that is still in the desired time. The way with in the field of the occult is to astral-project either cross dimensionally and or cross chronology. what do you guys think? got any other ideas or info.

im not sure that is possible. you just have to learn from the past to strengthen the future. also living in the present helps i would imagine. there is no past there is no future there is only now

There is a state then their is a previous state and a predictable state. Both previous and predictable states are equal with in this model of the universe. Through the proper flexing of space time it could be change the prospective of the viewer. Similar to going faster then somebody else could change your prospective.

The past doesn't exist and the future, only in expectation. The us only the present, which like from a will springs forth into existence. Right now. No now. No now. Now.
